

Crawford Livestock Market

Market report for Friday, June 24th, 2022. We sold a total of 609 head for the day. The weighup market this week was steady to stronger as the market continues to climb. The top end of the feeding cows were $81.50-$89.50. The best of the slaughter cows brought from $82-$91.50. The next cut of kill cows ranged from $77-$85.50. The best of the slaughter bulls this week sold for $106.50 clear up to $125. Even bulls with a flaw still managed upper $80's-$106.50. Smaller cutting bulls were mostly $130-$146. Heiferettes were barely tested this week but topped out at $113.

We had a fancy pot load of steers weighing 963# bring $173! And a nice small package of heifers weighing 804# bring $146.

Pairs sold well with young cows with calves commanding $1875 and even broken mouth pairs going as high as $1750. Overall, our market is strong and gaining momentum despite negative influences abroad and we feel optimistic about the future in the cattle industry. We are off the next two weeks, for the 4th of July and we'll head to Reno, Nevada to represent 4,500 head of fancy Western Nebraska, Eastern Wyoming and Western South Dakota cattle.
