The weighup market was a bit softer this week, but we had another big run of them in the offering. The slaughter cattle market has seen a little pressure lately, and that certainly trickles down into the weighup trade. As producers are pregging cows and getting ready for fall and winter, we are seeing more of those cull cows come to town. That is pretty typical for this time of year, and the bigger numbers can put some pressure on the market as well.

At NOON we started on the yearlings. One thing about this business, we never really know how many weighups are going to show up Friday morning! That makes it a little tricky to prepare for the day, especially when it comes to head count, timing and having the right crew in the right place.

After the yearlings, we rolled right into some REALLY nice spring calves. The feeder cattle market continues to be driven by historically tight cattle supplies, and while there are going to be ups and downs from week to week, good-quality cattle continue to find plenty of interest. The smaller U.S. cattle supply continues to be a major part of the bigger market picture.

And we had some real nice calves yesterday! You can SEE the difference when producers put the time and money into their cattle. Good vaccination programs, mineral, genetics and management don't just happen overnight, and when those calves come through the ring, it shows. Buyers know what they are looking at, too.

We have a lighter run of calves coming next week, and at this point in the year we have worked through the majority of our yearlings. I'm sure we will still have some smaller packages of yearlings trade as we move toward the end of the year, but our focus will continue shifting more toward the fall calf run.

The bigger picture for U.S. beef remains pretty remarkable. Cattle supplies remain historically tight while beef continues to command strong consumer prices. That combination keeps a lot of attention on quality cattle and on the producers who are raising them.

Most of all, THANK YOU. To our consignors who trust us with your cattle, our buyers who show up week after week and compete for them, and our crew who never really knows exactly what Friday is going to throw at them but gets it done anyway, we appreciate you!

There are a lot of places you can do business, and we never take it lightly that you choose Crawford Livestock. Your loyalty, friendship and business mean more to us than you know.

♥ See you next Friday! ~Rich & Alicia
