- Low Yielding Bulls: $170-$183

The cow market was a bit softer this week. With the announcement of the closing of the packing plant in Lexington, Nebraska, did that reflect the cow market? Or the investigation into the packers? It is hard to tell what to expect lately in this volatile market.

We did have plenty of buyers today for the cows and calves. We had our annual Fort Robinson sale with 75 longhorns averaging $229.18# at $1368.88 a head. Last year, they brought $131.24#, so that was quite a climb for our longhorn cattle. They also brought 70 bison. They commanded $506.88#, $2052.14 a head. With 2024 bringing just $396.91#. So that is a great uptick in their stock for 2025. We are happy to have hosted them again this year. We had quite a few new Highlander friends on this sale. With the star of the show, a bred silver HighDex named Phoebe, and her heifer calf Pearl brought $7250! The Highlanders averaged $2844 a head straight through on the day. We had a packed house with plenty of buyers for all classes of cattle today, but let me tell you the internet was exploding and we sent critters all over the country.

Thanksgiving Blessings from Crawford Livestock

This Thanksgiving, our hearts are full.

We are thankful for the ranch families who rise before the sun,
the buyers who trust in quality and relationships,
the truckers, the crew, the neighbors, and the friends who fill the seats, and those who may not raise cattle—but raise their hand to support the people who do.
At Crawford Livestock, we don't just sell cattle.

We gather community.

We share coffee, handshakes, stories, and friendship.

We celebrate hard work, good cattle, and the people who make it all possible.

From our barn to your ranch,
from our family to yours—

May your blessings be many, your table be full, and your hearts be grateful.

Happy Thanksgiving
