We sold 1,446 head through the barn this week, which is just unbelievable for this time of year. In addition, we sold another 425 head on our in-house video sales. Due to the continued dry conditions, these cattle need to ship within days of the sale. Unlike previous years when many of these cattle would ship in August, most of the cattle we sell this year will be moving almost immediately.

I apologize for the delay in getting this market report out. Well...this week certainly didn't go as planned. We missed out on one of our favorite weeks of the year. It's our favorite because the information we gain and the networking opportunities with people from livestock markets across the country are truly invaluable. The friendships made along the way are just the icing on the cake.

We made a quick trip to attend the PAC Auction, which raises funds to ensure the people in Washington, D.C., understand what we do and how America gets fed. We also attended the sale at St. Onge Livestock on Saturday and watched auctioneers compete for the World Champion title before heading to the awards banquet. Then it was back to the salebarn on Sunday, where Rich got to load cattle at someone else's salebarn for a change 😊, and we were able to spend some quality time with our amazing friends, the Tuppers.

While so many things seem upside down in our part of the world right now, there is always a silver lining. Sometimes it's found in good friends, a few days away, and the reminder that this livestock industry is more than a business, it's a family.

We have another decent sale lined up this week as we continue to miss these much-needed rains. We appreciate every consignor, buyer, trucker, and friend who continues to support us through these challenging conditions. Please keep praying for rain and for our ranching communities. 🌧️❤️

Thank you all for your continued support and for everything you do.
~ Rich & Alicia

With these dry conditions, if you have cattle you need to video market before our July WVM sale, please call the office and we'll discuss some in house video options to fit this dry year.
Pray for rain!
